LOCAL BREVITIES.

Saturday's Daily.

A letter received by A. Bettington today from John Little, of Antelope, confirms the report received yesterday by Mr. Gleason, in regard to the whereabouts of Forester, and adds that it was expected he would be captured Wednesday. No further word has been received.

Prof. Wilder's harp and mandolin quintet club will be here Thursday night, and you can't afford to miss hearing them. They are no doubt excellent musicians, and the vocal part of the program by local talent will add much to the entertainment.

Several Dallesites received invitations yesterday to attend a jubilee meeting at Goldendale tonight, the occasion for which is the Republican victory just achieved. There's nothing selfish about Goldendale, and when they have a good thing they call in their neighbors to rejoice with them.

On account of the immense amount of freight and large passenger list today, the stage line between this city and Prineville was compelled to put on an extra conveyance. For some time this line has been doing an extra amount of business, which does not seem to abate in the least.

The Oregon Telephone Company has recently purchased the Sherman county, line which extends from Grants to Wasco, Moro and Grass Valley. The rate for telephoning from this city over that line has thus been reduced from fifty to twenty-five cents. At their office in this city a sound-proof booth is to be put in.

It is thought that the coal Kretzer will strike near The Dalles will rate second to none—prospects show it. Then if people down there will invest some of their savings in home improvement, and part with less on life insurance buncos, they may find The Dalles a second Pittsburg some fine day not far off—Observer.

As a result of the teachers' examination, which ended yesterday, the following received county certificates: Second grade, Bessie Hastings, Boyd; Mrs. R. R. Allard, Hood River. Third grade, G. W. McClure, Boyd; Heester Howe, Viento (who received a second grade standing). There is one applicant for life diploma.

In the handicap tournament last evening on the club alleys, the team composed of Stadelman, Grimes and Kurtz carried away the medal with a score of 552. Much excitement prevailed, as a team consisting of Bradshaw, Schanno and Baldwin had won the two previous games, and had they been successful last night would have been the winners of the medal for keeps.

The Dalles is vigorously endeavoring to have the Tacoma and Columbia River railroad extended on to their city. Mr. Woods, a prominent mill man of that city, is now in Tacoma doing some hard work. This road if extended would in all probability go through this town. That it would be a paying investment is certain. The Dalles is probably the greatest wool market in the world, yet this is only one of the big industries awaiting its facilities.—Goldendale Agriculturalist.

Thursday evening at the home of Rev. J. H. Wood, who performed the ceremony, Mr. Hiram Dodds, of Dufur, and Miss Elena M. Henry, of Croy, Wis., were made one. Dr. Dodds has recently located at Dufur, and his bride arrived in the city from Wisconsin on the morning of the day she was married. From all appearances Dufur is very fortunate in having as residents such a refined couple, who will no doubt prove welcome adjuncts to society there.

A number of young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Parkins last night to spend a few hours in music and social converse. The evening was a very pleasant one, and greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Parkins had provided refreshments, realizing that music hath charms, but to be fully appreciated must have some substantial accompaniment. Those present were: Misses Maie Cushing, Mattie Cushing, Elizabeth Schooling, Cora A. Joles, Emma Fisher and Hester Howe and Mrs. R. R. Allard, of Hood River, Messrs. H. M. Ryan, John Wiegand, Clinton Alden, James Rees, H. D. Parkins, Tunis Parkins, Erwin Parkins.

Poles have already commenced to arrive for the Oregon Telephone and Telegraph company. Copper wire will be placed between The Dalles and Prineville, taking in the towns of Dufur, Kingsley, Tygh Valley, Sherars Bridge, Bake Oven, Hildaway, Hay Creek, Prineville and Antelope. This line will cost between $30,000 and $40,000. The tariff will be 50 cents from The Dalles to Prineville, and a corresponding rate to other points in the Northwest and elsewhere. From Prineville and all other points on that line parties will be able to converse with any town or hamlet in the Northwest. The Oregon Company are branching out to all of these as rapidly as men and material can be procured.

Thursday evening at their home on 3-Mile, a farewell party was given to Eugene Moore, who will leave tomorrow for Colfax. Music and games were the order of the evening until they were summoned to partake of the lunch provided. A good time was enjoyed by Rachel Morgan, Katherine Sargent, Elva Creighton, Bertha Hill, Retta Taylor, Lulu and Emma Creighton, Lena Moore, Gundhilda Beck, John Cooper, James Taylor, James Creighton, Charles and Arthur Creighton, N. Moore, Victor Sampson, H. Moore, James McCowan, Will, Eugene and Garfield Moore.

Yesterday a gypsy outfit visited The Dalles and threatened for a short time to stop not only the town clock, but the wheels of the many and varied manufacturing in the city. Fortunately it is that the arc lights are still under a bushel, or, with the assistance of a number of citizens, they would have even succeeded in putting them out. The outfit consisted of a man, woman, two children, a bear, four cubs and a monkey, the latter adding respectability to the otherwise disheveled company. The woman was in full dress, décolleté with a vengeance, while the shortness of her swell costume bore evidence that she had no visible means of support, and no stockings or shoes with which to conceal that fact. As the procession proceeded, the cubs could not for bear to display the small amount of agility which remained in their unmake-ups and began climbing the telephone poles, much to the delight of the small boy, who followed in their wake. Indeed, they were a sorry looking lot, and many were tempted to look into their own future for the sake of making that of the poor unfortunates a little the less hard to endure.

At the morning service at the M. E. church yesterday thirteen probationers were received into full membership in the church. This afternoon the jury in the case of the United States vs. Basil Delore was chosen and the case will come to trial this evening at 7 o'clock.

At the fair to be given by the ladies of the Methodist church next month, they have arranged to have on hand each evening all sorts of pastry cooked in the best manner possible. The harp though a favorite instrument, is not often heard. Thursday night we will have an opportunity to listen to its sweet strains when the Wilder Quintette Club visits us.

Mayor Nolan and Mr. S. French, representing the electric light company were this afternoon engaged in viewing the city, and determining the best corners upon which to place the new arc lights. This looks like business. A chimney burning out at the residence of Theodore Seufert last evening about 6 o'clock, caused an alarm of fire to be sounded, and residents to hasten to the scene. Although the hook and ladder company succeeded in reaching the residence at once, their assistance was not necessary.

Yesterday's Oregonian gives an account of the death of Frank E. Rofeno, of Portland, at Manila, Sept. 27th. Although the name was not spelt exactly as Wm. Rofeno, who was formerly employed on the Regulator, spells his, yet it is thought to be a brother, since he had a brother named Frank E.

Saturday evening Mrs. E. J. Collins entertained a number of young ladies in honor of Miss Cowles. The principal feature of the evening was a candy pull, which was greatly enjoyed. The remainder of the time was spent in music and a general good time, while the refreshments served was no minor part of the program. All report a gay time.

Adjutant-General Tuttle and Captain Moom arrived in the city Saturday evening and twenty-three passed the examination required in order to become members of the Oregon National Guard. The requisite number to form a company at this place was not obtained, but as soon as the full list of names is obtained the officers will return and swear them in.

Saturday evening residents in the West End noticed a team going by driven (or supposed to be) by a man whose inclinations seemed to be to sit on the ground and guide his horses. He finally succeeded in falling off the seat to the ground cutting a bad gash in his forehead. Passers-by picked him up and carried him where assistance could be given and where he might be sobered up; but the horses, evidently used to the proceedings, walked away and would have reached home without a driver had not someone taken them in hand.

It is very evident that the things and characters of the same ilk have not deserted The Dalles, since they occasionally make themselves known. Last night when Harvey Allen was walking through the school yard on Union street he was greeted with an invitation to halt and throw up his hands, which Harvey, in the goodness of his heart, could not well refuse. The man then proceeded to transfer $1.10 and a cork screw from his prisoner's pocket into his own. Harvey says if he had thought of receiving an invitation to a hold-up he certainly would have left the cork screw at home.

Tuesday's Daily. Yesterday in Los Angeles, Calif., Miss Bessie Cram, of this city and G. W. McNamara, of Los Angeles, were united in marriage. They expect to make their home in that beautiful city. Dalles people have only the very best of wishes to extend to the young couple.

A boy by the name of Merton, who is employed in the broom factory in the East End, this afternoon fell on some of the machinery of the factory, badly lacerating his hip. Dr. Hollister was immediately called and dressed the wound.

Dr. C. H. Chapman, president of the University of Oregon, is to resign, such action to take effect at the end of the present college year. Information announcing the contemplated resignation was received Friday by members of the board of agents in Portland, to whom the news came as a complete surprise. No previous intimation of the intended action has been received.

This afternoon the artist, Perrin, who is visiting our city, made a display of his work at the residence of Mrs. O. L. Barrett. He is a member of the R. A. and also of the National Art League of Europe, and his water colors are beautiful, as is also the tapestry shown by him. Any who failed to see them today may call at Mrs. Barrett's tomorrow morning.

Messrs. Isaac Joles, W. T. Young and M. Miller returned yesterday from their mining claim in Sand Gulch, Grant county. They brought with them $660 in gold nuggets which were taken out in clearing bedrock where the find of last year was discovered. Mr. Joles informs us that his claim is still very promising, and that from present prospects his most sanguine hopes will be realized.

This morning a large force of men under Contractor Robinson left town to commence work on the Seufert & Condon telephone line south from Dufur. The residents of that section must be rejoicing in the prospect of being in such direct communication with the towns and cities which it otherwise requires such a length of time to reach. This line has indeed been a blessing in many ways.

Frank Menefee today received word from Mr. C. G. Roberts, of Hood River, announcing the death of his brother, James Roberts, today. Mr. Roberts was in his 72d year and was a native of Galesburg, Scotland. He had been sick for some months at the home of his brother, where he died, his death being caused by heart disease. The funeral will take place from the Congregational church in Hood River, at 1:30 o'clock Thursday, November 17th.

From Mr. Joles, who reached the city last evening, we learn of an accident which happened to a freighter by the name of Grimes yesterday on DesChutes grade. Grimes had stopped his team and was repairing his brake before starting down the grade, when in chopping some pieces of wood to be used, the ax slipped, cutting off two fingers of his left hand. He immediately left his team and went to Sherar's residence, where all the aid that could possibly be offered under the circumstances was given him.

The mayor's real reason for vetoing the light ordinance has just been discovered by a reporter who interviewed him yesterday and found him being petitioned by a young lady not to place a light in front of her residence. The mayor has always been a lady's man and surely that must account for the aforesaid veto, as he could not, as Cradlebaugh would say, refuse the "little dimpled darlings." It is an assured fact, therefore, that no agreement will be reached unless the lights are placed where they cannot cast their rays on the numerous gates being held down, or rather, the young ladies being held up.

Mr. James Blakeley, who has been visiting his son, George, in this city, returned this morning to Brownsville. Mr. Blakeley is 86 years old and crossed the plains in 1846. Reaching The Dalles, his party built flat boats in which they went down the river. He still lives on the donation land claim which was given him in that year, the city of Brownsville being located on his claim. This is a remarkable incident, as perhaps a similar case could not be found in the state. During the Rogue river war in 1856 he formed a company, among the members of which were Marshall Hill, Arthur and W. Walker, and J. A. Gulliford. Yesterday the old gentleman was delighted and surprised to meet his old friend Max Ramsey, of Sherman county, whom he had not seen for forty years. Mr. Blakeley is very well preserved for one of his age, and his visit with his sons in Eastern Oregon has been very enjoyable.

At a meeting of the Woman's Club in Portland a vote was taken as to which would be the most appropriate choice for our state flower, and a decided preference was given the "Mahoms," or Oregon grape, although many others were suggested, such as the squash blossom, and one old bachelor suggested the bachelor's button. Bachelors are certainly very much in evidence in Oregon, but as to their buttons, unless the famous button woman, who made herself so obnoxious in this city some time since, makes herself numerous in the state soon, they will be minus. The married men, are partial to the early morning glory; the married women, four o'clocks; the young men, tulips or the moon flower; the young ladies, hearts ease or the dandelion; old maids, the century plant, and one gentleman, presumably a miller, suggests that nothing can be more representative than good wheat flour, unless the honor be shared by a little old rye. And yet when it comes to a decisive vote nothing can be more appropriate or give more genuine satisfaction than the Oregon grape.

Resolutions on the Death of Phil Brogan.

Hall of St. Peter, Branch Catholic Knights of America, The Dalles, Ore., Nov., 11, 1898.

At a special meeting of branch 451, Catholic Knights of America, the following resolutions of condolence were adopted:

Resolved, That we use every legitimate means within our power and within the law to bring the inhuman assassin of our dead brother to justice.

J. P. MCINERNEY, M. MCINNIS, H. J. MAIER, Committee.

News of Forester.

Monday Sheriff Kelly received the following letter from Deputy Sheriff Brown at Antelope, dated Nov. 13th.

"The latest concerning Forester says he is in the vicinity of Prineville. Some immigrants came in town last evening and said they saw him yesterday and that he was making his way toward Carmichel's Crossing, on Crooked river, where he expected to stay all night. They gave a pretty good description of the man and it tallied fairly well with Forester. Frank Gum, John Brogan and Dave McKelvey immediately left for Carmichel's Crossing, and will in all probability get there before this morning.

If it is the right man and he is still there they will get him, as they are all determined men and are well prepared to take him. If it were Forester, and he had left the crossing they will follow him until they get him. If they fail to get him or if it is the wrong man I don't see as I can do much more, as he probably is too far away by this time to send men after him from here. I think the reward is all that will catch him now.

CHAS. D. BROWN, Deputy Sheriff.

Court Notes.

Last night the trespass case of the United States vs. Basil Delore came up before the court. Witnesses were examined, after which court adjourned till this morning, when the case was submitted without argument. Dist. Atty. Jayne and J. F. Moore appeared for the state and Dufur & Menefee for the defendant.

Yesterday the grand jury brought in two indictments. One against Edward Keith, alias R. G. Keith for larceny from the steamer Dalles City some time last summer. Also a true bill against A. C. Freeman for larceny of a horse.

The case of John Dee vs. W. D. Jones, which is an action on a promissory note, is on trial this afternoon. M. R. Elliot, of Prineville appears for the plaintiff and Dufur & Menefee for the defendant. Theresa Reese was granted a decree of divorce from Frederick Reese.

Married.

This afternoon at 2:30 at the Farmer's Hotel, Mr. Carl Van Dervoort of this city, and Miss Eva Wellman, of Detroit, Michigan, Rev. J. H. Wood officiating. The groom is an employe of the railroad company here, while the bride reached this city from Detroit, Michigan, yesterday. They will make their home here for the present.

Appreciated.

The family of the late Geo. H. Barnett desire to thank the many friends and neighbors for their generous aid and sympathy during the illness and sorrowful time following. Such kindness will ever be remembered as a bright ray of sunshine on the dark cloud of sorrow.

An Important Difference.

To make it apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a coactive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. 'SHOT DOWN AT HOME'

Pendleton Young Woman Probably Fatally Wounded—A Chinese Youth Suspected.

Miss May Wallace, a teacher in the Pendleton academy, was shot through the body while standing by a window at the home of her parents in that city at 9 o'clock Thursday evening. The shot was fired through the widow glass by some person who stood outside of the house. Suspicion rests upon a young Chinese named Goon as the perpetrator of the crime.

Miss Wallace came there from the East with her father's family a year ago, and has been teaching at the Pendleton academy. She is one of the brightest, most cultivated, intellectual and charming socially of all the young ladies of that city.

Miss Wallace has been teacher of a class of Chinese youths, in addition to her regular duties on the faculty of the academy. Recently she expelled Goon, a young Chinese boy, probably not more than 20 years old, from the class. Goon was much mortified and enraged at his expulsion.

That night, just at 9 o'clock, Miss Wallace stood by a dining table in her home on Webb street, doing some sewing, when some one fired through the window, the bullet entering her body just below the hip joint, ranging upward and causing clear through, so the surgeon located it on the other side just beneath the skin. An operation was performed and it is difficult to determine what the result will be. Physicians however, fear the worst, as it is feared the vital organs have been so affected as to prevent her recovery.

CIRCUIT COURT.

C Fraley, foreman; E S F Newcome, Geo Anderson, Van Woodruff, Geo S Krause, Chas Davis, H Hillgen. Beside the regular petit jury impaneled a special venire was summoned on account of the absence from sickness and other causes of many of the regular jury.

Health Lecture.

Mrs. Sara M. Read, one of the state managers and lecturer for the Oregon Viavi company, whose headquarters are in Portland, will lecture to ladies in the small E. of P. hall on Tuesday, Nov. 15th, at 2:30 p. m. Subject: "Health and a Higher Life for Women."

These lectures are very instructive to all ladies and none should lose this opportunity to hear Mrs. Read, who has been in the lecture field for the past seven years. She claims that physical reform is the basis of all reforms, and that when health and happiness reign in the home, the saloons and other questionable places of amusement will close their doors for want of patronage. This is one of the reform movements of the nineteenth century that has spread all over the civilized world and is endorsed by the clergy and all cultured people who are interested in good works and whatever is of benefit to the human family. No admission is charged. All ladies are cordially invited.

Concerning Former Dallesites.

Frank Bowman, formerly employed in Moody's dry goods store here, was one of the three men who were held up and robbed forty miles from Lewiston last Thursday. The robber obtained $70.

Jerome McNeil, a 13-year-old boy who ran away from the Catholic home at Beaverton and started on a tour of the world a few weeks ago, was captured Saturday by Officer Hawley, of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society. When arrested, Jerome was on his way to The Dalles to visit his father. Last summer, Jerome ran away from the home and started East on a brakebeam. Before he had gone far he met with an accident which necessitated the amputation of his left hand.

The Prineville Review says: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hampton, who now reside at Camp Creek, met with a serious accident when returning from Prineville to their home last week. When crossing Day Creek, by a sudden wrench of the wagon Mr. Hampton was thrown out, and the four-horse team which he was driving started to run. Mrs. Hampton tried to put on the brake, but falling climbed into the back of the wagon, and although the horses ran into a tree and broke the wagon tire, she was uninjured. Mr. Hampton was pretty badly hurt, remaining unconscious for several hours. Fortunately another team was with them and they were taken on to Mr. Wigham's. In a few days they were able to be taken home.

Henry J. Wentz, who died at Portland last Friday, and was buried in Lone Fir cemetery yesterday, was a resident of this city for many years, moving to Portland but a few years ago. He was in the undertaking and furniture business here; but since his removal to Portland has not been able to enter into business. About a month ago he suffered a paralytic stroke, from which he never recovered. He was in his 67th year. He leaves beside his wife, three sons and four daughters, most of whom reside in Portland.

Funeral of G. H. Barnett.

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the funeral of G. H. Barnett took place at the Methodist church, Rev. J. W. Jenkins, of Hood River, assisted by Rev. J. H. Wood, conducting the service, which was very largely attended. The choir sang, "Asleep in Jesus," after which Rev. Jenkins, taking for his text words of Apostle Paul, "I have fought the good fight; I have finished my course; I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous judge shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing," spoke of the life work of the deceased being one whose fruits will be gathered for years to come and tell in the lives of many. Rev. Wood then made a few remarks concerning his early acquaintance with Father Barnett, when as a boy he listened to his words of wisdom and looked up to him as an example.

At the close of the addresses the choir sang "Meet Me There," and for a closing hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." The remains were interred in Odd Fellows cemetery, covered not only with the cold earth, but a profusion of floral offerings, making his final resting place seem less drear.

High School Literary Society.

Friday evening the public generally was invited to attend the meeting of the High School literary society, and as proof of the interest taken in the work of this society, the school room was crowded, and the visitors returned to their homes wishing that it might be their privilege to be numbered among the pupils of a school so well conducted, and which has such beneficial adjuncts as the meeting attended last night. After a song, roll call was answered by quotations from Tennyson, and the regular routine business followed, at the close of which this program was rendered:

Recitation, Paul French. Select Reading, Constance Whealdon. Vocal Solo, Katherine Sargent. Recitation, Ortha Waters. Biography of Tennyson, Dora Nielsen. Recitation, Ena Uren. Male Quartet. Recitation, Maude Michell. Select Reading, Olive Slate. Vocal Solo, Fred Snipes. Recitation, Millie Sexton. Instrumental duet, Clara Nickelsen and Lena Liebe. Recitation, Frances Parrott. Reading of the Society paper by Ella Rice.
